GIBBONS WRITES THAT SPIRITS OF ITALIANS ARE HIGH

More Troop Ships Arriving Every Day, He Says

EQUIPMENT COMPLETE

League of Nations Council To Send Commission To Ethiopia

(Note: Floyd Gibbons, famous war correspondent, and the only representative of an American news gathering organization in Eritrea, today reveals the thoroughness of Italian preparations for war.)

Scotching reports abroad that the spirit of the troops is low because of illness and climatic conditions, Gibbons says their morale is of the highest; they have immense reserves of supplies, and are all ready for war at a signal from Mussolini.)

ASMARA, Eritrea, Sept. 26—(7 p. m.)—(Via Rome)—Hello, everybody! Down across the blazing desert from this mountain capital, at the port of Massawa, more Italian troop ships are arriving every day, bringing the present total of Italian forces to 200,000 men. One third of them are native troops.

Headquarters at Asmara, where I am attached to the Italian Expeditionary Force, are humming with activity. The streets resound to the marching beat of hob-nailed boots, growling motors, and heavily-loaded camels.

And the morale and spirit of the troops in spite of all kinds of reports back in Europe about their condition, are the highest possible.

All are eager for the take-off.

Their equipment is the most complete that could be assembled here with hundreds of thousands of tons of supplies in reserve. An extensive road building and other transportation arrangements are being rushed to make troops and supplies still more mobile. The air is full of rumors and reports concerning the starting date for the march into Ethiopia, but nothing is definite yet.

What is certain is that Mussolini's African army is in readiness awaiting only the word from Rome to go.

GENEVA, Sept. 27—The League of Nations Council Committee today decided to send a commission to Ethiopia to watch developments on the Italian-Colonial frontiers. Emperor Haile Selassie invited the commission to come to forestall any Italian pretext for invasion on the ground of a frontier clash.

ADEN, Sept. 27—British gunboats raced once more past Italian troop ships through the narrow strait into the Red Sea today to protect the territory of the Imam of Yemen from the Italian landing parties. British warboats were sped on their mission with a warning from officers to strive carefully to avoid any provocative incident that might bring the whole British and Italian fleets into conflict. The gunboats had returned to Aden from a similar expedition Wednesday but received another urgent summons from the Yemen government and steamed out at noon today.

Lady Artisans of America Spend A Day In Croydon

CROYDON, Sept. 27—The raising of the American flag and singing of the American anthem was the beginning of an enjoyable day Wednesday at the summer home here of Mrs. Anna Winkler, Roxborough.

Three buses, each carrying 35 women, arrived at 9:30 a. m. All are members of "Lady Artisans of America." The affair was given by Mrs. Sadie Winterbottom, supreme president. Within 6 years these women have organized nine chapters in Philadelphia, New York and New Jersey.

Games of all kinds were played and many prizes awarded the lucky contestants, a large table on the lawn provided for dinner and supper. Croydon women served.

PET CARDINAL ELUDES RESIDENTS OF BRISTOL

Bird Escapes From Mrs. Michael Petrick, 1505 Wilson Avenue

IS FREQUENTLY SEEN

Residents of the sixth ward are busily engaged these days endeavoring to coax a German cardinal to a place of safety.

The beautiful bird, which is admired and listened to by scores daily in the vicinity of Monroe street, escaped on September 15th when the bottom of its cage fell as the owner, Mrs. Michael Petrick, 1505 Wilson avenue, was handling it on the rear lawn of the Petrick home. The bird, enjoying its freedom, now keeps a safe distance from the Petrick home, but daily Mrs. Petrick receives many summons when the bird is seen.

Residents of the vicinity have been most kind, states the owner, as they have placed empty cages on their lawns, and tried to snare the attractive whistler. Food is readily eaten, but the bird keeps a safe distance from cages and long-poled nets.

The bird was brought from Germany, and presented to Mrs. Petrick by a relative. It is about seven or eight years old. The feathered pet has a white breast, gray back and tail, and a bright red head. In size it resembles a canary, but with a longer tail. Its beautiful triple whistle, is easily recognized. For 12 days it has been in the neighborhood, but seems wise enough to keep away from its home.

Frequently the bird has been seen bathing in bird-baths in the vicinity of Monroe street.

The Petrick family and neighbors are wondering if the small bird will be able to stand the rigors of colder weather.

CHURCH HOME-COMING WEEK ATTRACTS MANY

Morrisville Methodist Church Observes Anniversary; Has Had 46 Pastors

OTHER NEWS NOTES

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 27—The Rev. R. H. Crawford, of Philadelphia, preached in the Morrisville Methodist Church last night in connection with the anniversary and home coming week which is being observed. The celebration began last Sunday with special services and will continue through part of next week. The pastor of the church, the Rev. William R. Ridington, has announced that the earliest account of Methodist preaching in Morrisville that has so far been found was that by the Rev. Francis Asbury, afterward a Bishop, who tells in his diary of preaching here Thursday, May 21, 1772.

Of the 46 pastors the church has had since it has stood alone, the Rev. Mr. Ridington said he knew directly or indirectly all but ten. Nearly all the early pastors were young men, he said. The Rev. D. M. Gordon, who was pastor here in 1872 is still very frequently in a pulpit, helping by preaching.

At the Red Cross card party held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Comfort announcement was made that the captains and solicitors for the Red Cross roll call will meet in the Morrisville Community House October 9 at 2:30 o'clock when a speaker from the headquarters of the Southeastern Chapter will address the workers.

The card party was a delightful affair and was well attended. Mrs. Comfort was assisted by Mrs. Floyd Platt, Mrs. Ronald MacPherson, Mrs. Herman Forsythe and Mrs. John Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Donelson, of 235 West Franklin street, are the parents of a daughter born Sunday in Wagner's Hospital, Bristol. Mrs. Donelson is secretary of the Morrisville Branch of the Red Cross.

A change in the time for assembly and for club periods has been made in the schools here and the assembly period is now held every Tuesday instead of Friday and the club period has been changed to Friday afternoon of each week.

The program for the assembly next Tuesday will include music by the high school band and the high school orchestra. On the following Tuesday the students will rehearse songs to be sung at the football games.

Eleven clubs have been formed as follows: Junior shorthand, Miss Ella S. Bond, leader; dramatics, Mrs. Inez Cox, leader; glee, Miss Lucy Erdman, leader; leaders' club, Miss Dorothy Gish, leader; archery, Earl Reist, open forum, Raymond Schwinger; gift, Miss Marie S. Selby; girl reserves, Miss Dorothy Ulrich; handicraft, Miss Margaret Watkins; library, Miss Alma Winton; stamps, E. H. Windle.

YARDLEY

The P. O. of A. and the P. O. S. of A. will again resume their bi-monthly card parties for the Winter, starting with October 4th, at 8:30 in the club rooms. Games to be played include pinochle and bingo, and are under the direction of Mrs. Sadie Dilliplane and George Worrell.

EARLY FALL WEDDING INTERESTS YARDLEYITES

Hennessy-Smith Nuptials Occur at St. Ignatius R. C. Church

OTHER YARDLEY NEWS

YARDLEY, Sept. 27—An early fall wedding of much interest to the young people of this vicinity took place in St. Ignatius R. C. Church, yesterday morning, when Miss Margaret M. Smith, daughter of John Smith, Sr., became the bride of John E. Hennessy, son of John M. Hennessy, Newtown. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Edward A. Stapleton.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a brown travelling dress of satin back crepe with matching accessories, and wore a corsage of talisman roses. She carried a prayer book. Her sister, Miss Ellen M. Smith, of Rahway, N. J., as the only attendant wore green crepe with brown accessories and a shoulder bouquet of yellow roses.

The groom had as his attendant his brother, Dr. Raymond B. Hennessy, Newtown; and the ushers were, John Smith, brother of the bride, and Robert Burns, Newtown. Miss Marie Urban, organist of Newtown Church, played the wedding march, and accompanied the soloist, Frank Sutton, Newtown. Mr. Sutton sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," "Ave Maria," "Oh, Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "Heart of Jesus, We Are Grateful." After a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Hennessy left for a motor trip through the New England States. They will reside in the LaTuc Apartments, Newtown.

Mrs. Lucy A. Harper and Miss Gladys A. Harper attended the executive meeting of the Bucks County Episcopal Church School Association at the Episcopal rectory, Langhorne. Plans were made to hold the Bucks County Church School teachers' meeting in Eddington on October 11. Plans were made to hold a normal school again this year in the parish house, Langhorne. The Rev. Walter Cresson Fugh, St. Andrew's P. E. Church, Yardley, will conduct a class in apostolic history. Miss Mary Simms, Philadelphia, will lead a class in Biblical pageantry; Miss M. E. Frasier, school of religious education, will conduct a school of methods for the juniors. The school will start on November 8, and close on December 13th.

Misses Marguerite Beener, Gladys A. Harper, and Mary Robbins; and Stanley Twining attended the Bucks County

Typhoon Hits Warships

Tokyo, Sept. 27—Turning Japan's war game into catastrophic reality, a raging typhoon today crashed down on five warships sweeping 60 officers and men to death in the foaming sea. On land the storm hit with equal violence, killing at least 250. Two hundred more were missing and 54 injured are receiving treatment. The deepest secrecy had been maintained during the maneuvers so the Naval Office declined to reveal the whereabouts of the stricken ships.

Rejoice at Wage Settlement

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27—Settlement of the wage dispute in the soft coal industry caused general rejoicing today in mining towns of 20 states. The strike of 400,000 union bituminous coal miners will formally end Tuesday, October 1st, when the new working contract with operators becomes effective. The last contract expired in February and was extended five times at the request of President Roosevelt until it finally expired Sunday midnight and prevented miners from returning to work. Negotiators for miners and operators reached an agreement early today. The new contract will carry a 9c general increase for piece work miners, the amount demanded by the United Mine Workers.

Blame Insanity

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 27—Temporary insanity arising from the belief he was doomed to die of an incurable disease and that his mother had been wronged, was blamed by authorities today for the action of a junior high school principal in slaying the head of the Harrison County School Board, and then ending his own life. The principal, John F. Tracy, 32, burst into the office of Dr. J. W. Cardus, school board head, late yesterday afternoon, pumped four bullets into the victim and then ended his life with the same gun. His mother, Mrs. Dora Tracy, for 13 years secretary to the superintendent, was ousted from her job when the new board, headed by Dr. Cardus, assumed office last January. Tracy left a note saying he was suffering from cancer and this was the only way out of the dilemma.

PHILA. PASTOR ANSWERS PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Denounces Iniquities He Sees In the Present Administration

DOLE'S BAD RESULTS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27—President Roosevelt's appeal to the clergy of the Nation for "advice and counsel" drew an immediate and withering response yesterday from Rev. Dr. David M. Steele, rector emeritus of the Church of St. Luke and the Epiphany.

"It is striking below the belt and playing politics on the low plane with which you have made us all familiar," was Dr. Steele's characterization of the appeal, in an open letter to the President.

"My counsel," he declared, "is that you stay away from Washington as long as possible. The only help I can render you or the American people or myself is to vote for the next Republican candidate who, by the grace of God, shall be nominated."

Among many Philadelphia clergymen who commented on the President's appeal was Rev. Dr. E. A. E. Palmquist, secretary of the Philadelphia Federation of Churches, who declared, "The President is late in the day in asking for the advice of the clergy of the land."

Dr. Steele's open letter to the President read as follows:

"I received yesterday, franked through the mail, postmarked under recent date, what purported to be a personal letter from you. It was enclosed in an official-looking envelope on one corner of which was printed 'White House, Official Business.' On the other corner was printed the exhortation, 'Buy United States Saving Bonds, Ask Your Postmaster.' This is precisely what I would not buy at present.

"Nevertheless, I opened the letter. Continued on Page Three

Croydon Child Injured; Struck By Automobile

A Croydon child was injured when struck by an automobile at Eddington yesterday afternoon.

The injured is: Grace Newton, 9, daughter of William Newton, Excelsior and Delaware avenues, Croydon, laceration of lower right leg requiring seven stitches; lacerations of left knee requiring four stitches; brush burns of body. An X-ray picture is to be taken of the child's arm today to determine any injury there.

The child, it is stated, had walked to Eddington with a small companion, and while along Bristol Pike in that village Grace is said to have crossed the highway, and hurriedly turned and recrossed, running into the path of an automobile operated by Richard W. Fechtenburg, Eddington.

She was taken to Harriman Hospital by J. R. Bintliff, 1909 Wilson avenue.

JUDGE KELLER NAMED SCOUT DRIVE CHAIRMAN

Campaign for Funds for The Maintenance and Camp Fund is Planned

TO OPEN OCTOBER 5TH

President Judge Hiram H. Keller of the Bucks County courts, has accepted chairmanship of the forthcoming financial campaign of Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The campaign for funds will open October 5th, the money to be used for maintenance and camp fund for 1936.

Judge Keller's letter of acceptance to the executive board of the county council follows:

In response to the action of the Executive Board of the Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America, in again designating me as Chairman of the Annual Maintenance and Camp Fund Campaign, I can only say that I regard this as a duty and privilege to do my humble part in the furtherance of the welfare of the boys and young men of our County. In accepting this responsibility, I know, from the experience of previous campaigns, that I will have the united and unstinted support and co-operation of the citizens of our County, both as solicitors and contributors.

The value of scouting upon the lives of our boys and its importance as a character-building and citizenship training agency has been so thoroughly demonstrated in our County since the establishment of the County Council, nine years ago, that it should require no argument in support of its continuance. The opportunity that it offers to our boys and young men to have a share in the affairs of the community, to help others in a constructive and worthwhile manner, and thereby become, in a measure, participating citizens, makes its worth while.

Scouting in Bucks County is increasing annually and our Council has done an exceptional piece of work at a minimum expense. The membership of the Executive Board who control the budget distribution and expense of funds is composed of conservative business and professional men.

None of us can make a better investment for the boys who will be the men of tomorrow. It is my earnest hope that the citizens of our County will be as generous and helpful in their financial support of this great work as their circumstances will permit.

HIRAM H. KELLER.

NEW HOPE COUPLE ESCAPE FROM CAR WRECKED BY TRAIN

Leap to Safety After Their Automobile Stalls On Tracks

AT SCUDDERS FALLS

Attempts to Flag the Train Prove Unsuccessful

A New Hope couple, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bogle, had a narrow escape from death last evening, when they leaped to safety when their automobile became stalled on the railroad tracks at Scudders Falls, N. J.

A few seconds later a locomotive crashed into the machine, demolishing it, and dragging the vehicle about 50 feet.

The machine in which Mr. Bogle and his wife, Elsie, were riding, became stalled in the middle of the track. They saw a passenger train approaching, bound north. The two leaped from the car and attempted to flag the train, but their efforts were unsuccessful. The train bore down, and shattered the machine.

The train, in charge of Engineer Charles F. Vanatta, of Belvidere Pike, Phillipsburg, and Conductor John R. Harding, 49 Charlotte avenue, Trenton, N. J., was on its way to Stroudsburg. Vanatta told authorities that the train was traveling at the rate of 60 miles an hour and that it was impossible for him to stop when he saw Bogle signalling him.

Captain Clarence Morris and Officer Howard Morris, Ewing Township police, and Trooper Forkin, of Wilburtha State Police, investigated.

ATTAINS GOAL! 8-LEAF CLOVER

By International News Service PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Dr. Edward J. Girard, orthopedist, and "clover collecting champion" has realized a life's ambition by finding an eight-leaf clover.

Dr. Girard got his treasure, which he plans to mount and give to the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia, while vacationing in Haverhill, Mass. His find automatically recalls, he said, the $100 reward he offered six years ago for such a leaf. He still has a $500 reward up for anyone finding a nine-leaf clover.

Four-leaf clovers are just nuisances to Dr. Girard.

QUEZON WINS

As was predicted by impartial observers of the campaign, Manuel Quezon was elected first president of the Philippines, and Sergio Osmena vice president, at the first balloting under the act which separates the islands from the United States after a 10-year trial period. Mr. Quezon appears to have been given a clear majority over his two opponents, and about twice the vote cast for Emilio Aguinaldo. The first congress will consist almost entirely of Quezon supporters.

The election was conducted in an orderly manner on the whole, though one or two untoward instances were reported. It is estimated that about 80 per cent. of the electorate voted, in spite of rainy weather.

This quiet seriousness is a good omen. If, after little more than one generation of American tutelage, the Filipinos have been taught that issues are to be settled in the polling booth, rather than with rifle and knife in village and forest, it is an achievement which speaks equally well for the ability of Americans to teach and the capacity of Filipinos to learn the ways of democracy.

One of the first endeavors of the new government which will be inaugurated November 15, will be to secure better trade relations with the United States. In view of the fact that Japan offers us keen competition in the islands, it will be well to examine with all possible favor whatever proposals the Philippines government may make. Our obligation has not ceased with the setting up of self-government. It still remains to assist in putting the islands on the road to as assured a prosperity as can be planned in these uncertain times.

PRESIDENT'S COMING TRIP

Apparently the itinerary for the president's Western trip has not yet been completed.

Some weeks ago it was stated that the president would visit Arkansas in order to lend his good offices to Senator Robinson, who will stand for re-election next year. The death of Senator Long changed and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, and perhaps it will not be necessary for the president to visit the senate leader's state this fall. However, the Hyde Park story is not definite on this point. In one place it says the president in all likelihood will board a cruiser at San Diego for a ride on the Pacific Ocean and "very probably for a return trip through the Panama Canal;" and in another place it says that from present indications the westward journey will lead through Omaha and Salt Lake City "with a visit on the return, or later, to Texas and Arkansas to call upon Vice President Garner and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the majority leader."

Obviously, it would be difficult for the president to return by way of Texas and Arkansas if he returns aboard a United States cruiser via the Panama Canal. We say this, however, without prejudice. If Chairman Farley thinks the cruiser should make an inland trip, though such a proceeding would be entirely apart from nautical traditions, we have no doubt that genial Jim would find a way to do it.

But would the vice president be at home even should the president return via Uvalde? It has been understood that Mr. Garner will be touring the Pacific about that time as a guest of the new Filipino government.

SYNOPSIS

Stuart Pennington, struggling young artist, is in love with Sharlene Standing, wealthy society girl. He goes about listlessly until a letter arrives saying she is returning from her travels. Then he is filled with inspiration and his fingers seem to fly over the canvas. Stuart's model, Julie DeVore, is jealous of Sharlene. She finds Sharlene's letter and reads it without compunction. Stuart will not ask Sharlene to marry him because he cannot ask her to share his poverty; besides, she is not in love with him. Stuart had met Sharlene through an accident. He was horseback riding when an automobile skidded and she was thrown. There was a grinding of brakes and Stuart hurtled through the air.

CHAPTER III

Sharlene pulled herself out of the driver's seat of the roadster and ran to him. There was no one else in that section of Sunset Boulevard at the moment to witness his ignominious position. He just lay there on his back, crushing the bushes, and stared up into the loveliest face he had ever seen. Warmth and sweetness and compassion all told in richness of color, fineness of texture, faultlessness of bone structure. Who had dared to paint such exquisite perfection? Then she spoke—and he realized that she was real—living, breathing, pulsating beauty.

"Are you hurt?" He felt himself experimentally, and started to scramble out of the hedge. She helped him and watched anxiously while he stamped his feet and flexed his arms.

"Not me," he said cheerfully. "Where's the horse? Is he hurt?" "No. He stopped suddenly just as his forefeet struck the car. That threw you. Then he went galloping off into that place down there with the red tile roof."

"That's where he belongs. He's Lucien Morrow's horse. I was just exercising him. I reckon he's all right."

He had turned to look down toward Lucien's house when he heard smothered laughter behind him. "Excuse me," she said penitently. "But there is a casualty. Your—your breeches—"

He felt of his rear. The shabby old fabric had not been able to withstand the thorns of the hedge and there was a gaping hole in the seat.

Stuart burst out laughing and the girl, relieved, laughed with him.

"Come on home with me. I'll get you sewed up."

"No, no, don't bother. I'll—"

"Come on. You need a drink anyway, after that spill."

She was already climbing into her car, and there seemed to be nothing for him to do but climb in beside her.

"Mind if we see if the horse is all right first?" he asked.

"I thought of that. We'll drive down there. My name's Sharlene Standing. And yours?"

He was amazed at the cool way she spoke her famous name. Surely she must know it flattered people.

"I'm Sharlene Standing—just like that! Just like saying: 'I'm Queen Mary. Who are you?'"

He told her his name in a rather gruff voice. It didn't mean anything.

"Pennington? The Philadelphia Penningtons?"

"No, my family lives in Alabama."

They found a groom inspecting the black horse when Sharlene drove down the Morrow driveway to the stables.

"Did he run away with you, Miss Stuart Pennington, huh?"

"Threw me. Is he all right?"

"Not a scratch. Just a little ashamed of himself, huh. But he's O. K."

"That's good. I'll take him out again tomorrow."

Sharlene shot the car back down the driveway to the street, then whirled it up into the hills, in through the tall iron gates of the Standing estate. Up past terraced hillsides of flowers and shrubs and orange trees to come to rest under the porte cochere of the stately, secluded, beautiful house.

As they entered the hall, a youngish, trim, very smart woman came running down the stairs.

"Sharlene!" she cried. "Are you all right?"

"Why, of course, mother—"

"Oh! I had the most absurd feeling that you'd run into trouble—"

"You had a good hunch!" laughed Sharlene. "Here's the trouble—Mr. Pennington, mother."

Mrs. Standing turned to Stuart. As she put out her hand, she looked very directly into his eyes. Then she shook her head, smiling warmly. "He's not trouble." She said with conviction.

"I mean, I got him into trouble," explained Sharlene. "I ran into him and tore his clothes."

"It's nothing," Stuart said, showing his torn breeches to prove it.

After they told her of the accident, Mrs. Standing said gaily:

"You go upstairs to the first bedroom on the right, Mr. Pennington, and take them off. You'll find dressing gowns and things in the closet. Bring your breeches back here and we'll have them mended."

Stuart hurried back presently clad in a black and gold Japanese kimono, bursting with apologies.

"I reckon I've been a mighty long time, but I found a prayer rug up there and I've been right down on my knees saying my prayers to it."

Mrs. Standing beamed. "It is beautiful. Now I know you belong! Let me have the breeches."

To his astonishment she sat down som is here, Mrs. Standing. He said he had an appointment—"

"Oh, yes. I'll be right with him."

She surveyed her work with satisfaction. "There! That's a neat job if I do say it! Don't go, Mr. Pennington, just because I'm hauled into rushing off. We should like to see you again!"

She shook hands in her charming, frank way and was gone. Sharlene looked after her in smiling surprise.

"You've made a hit with mother," she said. "She's rarely so cordial at first sight."

"It's remarkable!" Stuart said wonderingly. "I have such a strong feeling that I've always known her."

He had the same feeling about Sharlene, though he did not voice it. He felt so at ease with her that there was never such a thing as an awkward pause, in spite of his disability and the fact that he was a shy man, inarticulate.

He wondered afterwards if the drink had loosened his tongue. Or was it Sharlene's loveliness? Her personality like perfume pervaded all his senses.

Ever since that day there'd always been Sharlene Standing to give meaning to his life. Five years

"Excuse me," she said penitently, "but there is a casualty. Your—your breeches—" with her work basket to mend the rent herself.

"Now, don't you worry! I was taught to mend beautifully in a convent in France. There isn't a maid in the house who can do as well."

The butler brought long cool drinks. Stuart had not tasted anything so delicious in years. He had not felt so delightfully in rapport with people ever before on such short acquaintance.

A maid came in to tell Mrs. Standing that the president of the Women's Club wanted to speak to her on the telephone.

"Tell her I'm occupied just now," said Mrs. Standing, threatening her needle, "and that I'll call her later."

"Please don't let my catastrophe keep you," Stuart hastened to say in distress.

"It's not keeping me. There's time for everything."

But hard on the heels of the maid came her secretary, a sheaf of papers in her hand.

"Mrs. Standing, I'm sorry to interrupt. But you were dictating and you said those letters had to go—"

Mrs. Standing darned away carefully, not looking up. "I'll be with you presently, Mary. We'll send 'em airmail."

Stuart marveled at her serenity in the midst of such hectic responsibilities. He was amazed that the mending of his clothes should be considered above those important concerns.

Just as Mrs. Standing cut the thread after the last stitch, the secretary came back again. "Mr. Ful-

ONE LOOK AT THESE PHENOMENAL FOUR AND YOU'LL SAY

"BUICK'S THE BUY!"

TWO years ago Buick deliberately leveled its sights on 1936.

It coolly set its aim on bringing to market for that year a line of motor cars that would startle the world.

It purposed to do that, not by freak or superficial design, but by sheer merit as expressed in automobile beauty, value, ability.

It submits to you now the eminently satisfying results of that fruitful two years of concentrated endeavor.

Here are four separate series of sensational new Buick cars — cars called phenomenal by experts in the trade who previewed them.

Each is a feast to the eye schooled in mature modern styling, as you can see. Each has under the smooth flowing planes and surfaces of its smart exterior, the solid, tough, durable, beautifully engineered chassis that underwrites Buick dependability.

And each offers you from the stepped-up power of its big thrifty valve-in-head eight-cylinder engine such safe, thrilling performance as you have never known.

These cars are big cars every one — built to almost lavish dimensions of body room and head clearance — yet they handle with the fingertip lightness of small cars.

They are literally breath-taking in power and speed and take-off, yet under their new tiptoe hydraulics and easy-steering knee-action they are almost as manageable as a telephone.

They are thewed and sinewed by that quality which springs from Buick's third of a century of manufacturing experience, advantaged by $14,500,000 worth of new tools, dies and factory re-equipment devised for these cars alone.

These things are so true and so obvious that everywhere you will soon hear the motor-wise saying, "BUICK'S THE BUY!"

The October meeting of the Yardley W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Miss Gladys A. Harper on Tuesday evening. Miss Elizabeth S. Weeks will give excerpts from the National W. C. T. U. Convention in Atlantic City, N. J., and Mrs. Edna Funk will give an account of the course on "Race Relations" which she attended at Swarthmore College during the summer. The Y. P. B. will be in charge of the program and the social hour.

A meeting of the chairmen of each committee of the St. Andrew's candidates class of the Girls' Friendly Society was held at the home of the associate in charge, Miss Gladys A. Harper, Monday evening. A tentative program of the year's work was outlined which will be presented to all the members of the candidates class which will meet in the parish house on Saturday morning, September 28th, at 9 o'clock. Election of officers will be held. Those arranging the program include: Virginia Ambler, Elizabeth Caffey, Consuelo Cadwallader, Anne Reynolds, Anne Sunkland, and Alice Stackhouse.

Naturally I was highly honored until I realized it was cheaply mimeographed and signed with a rubber stamp. In what you are pleased to call my "high calling" as a reverend and dear sir, I have been familiar with this shabby procedure for upwards of forty years. My custom has been to confine such things to the waste basket. But when you speak of my intimate daily contact with people generally in the community, that flatters me. Still more you touch my pride when you speak of my wise and sympathetic understanding.

"I plead guilty to this latter. If you had half the understanding I have of the aforesaid people, you would hang your head in shame at what you have done to them. You and your administration have utterly ruined them, so that with relief and doles and pensions, all the piffling perquisites that you are handing out, I literally cannot get a man to do a day's work. The community is full of so-called unemployed—until you try to employ them. Then they simply will not work. Why should they?"

"You go on to speak of your 'new social security legislation,' old-age pensions, unemployment insurance, and those much-sobbed-over children who are dragged in upon every occasion. Oh, yes! And you want that Public Works Program promoted. These are all of them, precisely things I do not want, each for a different reason."

"You ask me, as a further favor, to write about conditions in my own community. They are doubtless not unlike conditions in every other community, county and State throughout the Nation. Conditions are bad, and the evil has been brought about largely by you and your maudlin entourage, your college professor theorists, your time-serving political and other henchmen, who have cluttered up the national payroll.

"It is true and lamentable, that you have plunged the Nation into billions of untold debt. This is bad. It is unspeakably bad and the debt is unpayable."

"But that is not the worst. The infinitely worse result of your procedure is the pauperizing of so many people, the debauching of labor and the plunging of so large a measure of the population into a low-down state of indolence from which they will not recover. They will never again, during our life-time, be able to, nor, which is worse, want to go to work."

"You go on in the following paragraph in the manner of speech to which we have become accustomed over the radio, in a soft-soap manner and a Uriah Heep method, to link together 'better spiritual and material conditions for the American people.' I submit this is nothing more than special pleading when you address the helpless clergy. Worse than that, it is striking below the belt and playing politics on the low plane with which you have made us all familiar."

"You close by telling me what touches my heart. You say you are leaving on a short vacation. Thank God for that. But when you tell me you will be back in Washington in a few weeks and will deeply appreciate my writing to you, I simply cannot deny you that little favor."

"You ask 'my counsel and my help.'"

My counsel is that you stay away from Washington as long as possible.

"The only help I can render you or the American people or myself is to vote for the next Republican candidate who, by the grace of God, shall be nominated."

LEWISBURG — (INS) — The annual Pennsylvania Folk Festival is to be sponsored by Bucknell University, next May. The festival will be directed by George Korson, former Wilkes-Barre and Scranton newspaperman, who supervised the first Pennsylvania Folk Festival held at Allentown last year.

Pennsylvania literature, music, art and drama will be featured by Korson, who is one of Pennsylvania's outstanding authorities on folklore. Korson, in accepting the directorship, said: "Pennsylvania has the richest folklore in the country and we should prevent it from gradually passing out of existence. The people of Pennsylvania should be made conscious of their inheritance before the generations of the past have died and made the information impossible to gather."

The Bucknell glee club and band will sing and play much of the folk music throughout the year and in other sections of the country, primary festivals will be given in preparation for the major festival at Bucknell.

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — In urging a national memorial for the late Will Rogers, a Pittsburgh woman has suggested the famous comedian be memorialized by placing his likeness on the country's silver and paper money.

Mrs. Mary Clark, in a letter to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, wrote: "I miss his smiling face and little wisecracks every night in the paper. As a suggestion, don't you think a picture of Will Rogers on some of our silver and paper money would be a good memorial to such a genuine and true American?"

"He would always be in our memory. Every person in all parts of the United States could see the money, but not all could see a memorial in some city."

PUNXSUTAWNEY — (INS) — A football accident, the most serious in the history of athletics at Punxsutawney high school, has brought an indefinite postponement in the school's football program.

In the school's first gridiron game of the season against Bradford high school, Francis Sandy, local player, suffered an accidental injury when he attempted a tackle. Missing, he was said to have struck the ground with his chin and snapped a vertebrae.

The youth was paralyzed from the waist down. He regained partial use of his arms a few days after the accident.

Public opinion, heightened by the refusal of parents of football players at the school to permit their boys to go on playing, brought a postponement of the sport here. The school football squad abandoned training and future games were cancelled.

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — If Felix Zeimer, candidate for city council here is elected, the voters will be assured of a very economical administration.

Zeimer, who was unemployed, could not afford to buy personal campaign cards, so he took the cards of other candidates, pasted them face inwards together, and wrote his appeal as follows:

"No platform; no promises; no public job; no relatives."

HOLLYWOOD — If anyone doubted the seriousness of Laly Pons' movie ambitions, the tiny diva settled it for all time by turning down $20,000 for three appearances as guest artist on radio programs. The dates would have fallen during the shooting schedule of her picture, "Love Song", and the star isn't going in for any outside activities until it is finished — even at this money.

As it is, R-K-O rushed to get through with her so as not to delay her departure to New York.

The maitre-d'hotel at any local late spot must be a walking encyclopedia on Hollywood's mixed marital statuses, and a man of ready tact besides. Any minute he may face a situation like this. The other night at the Trocadero, three couples arrived almost simultaneously. They were Nancy Carroll with Van Smith, Jack Kirkland (Nancy's ex-husband once removed) with Louise Bennett and June Travis (recently rumored as the next Mrs. Kirkland) with an unidentified young man. As the stay-up-laters viewed the arrivals with undisguised relief, the three parties were deftly seated and the little drama closed without further ado.

For the second time in her Hollywood career, Dolores Del Rio is changing her coiffure. Originally, she wore her hair long and combed back. In due time this was discarded for a bob, parted in the middle and combed back. But in the Mexican star's new picture, "Meet the Duchess", you'll see her hair parted on the side, creating quite a new effect. She'll also do away with the penciling under her eyes.

You Asked Me and I'm Telling You! Marvin Willett, Pittsburgh: All the survivors from the air crash of Paramount's "Annapolis Farewell" troupe are out of the hospital, but it will be a matter of months before the entire lot are back at work. Henry Sharpe, the cameraman, developed a back injury and is now wearing a brace. Director Dick Wallace is well enough to be looking over material for his next picture and will go to New York next month to see the plays. Captain Paul Wing (Toby's father) will be away from the studio for a month or so yet. Pat Drew, the electrician, is learning to use an artificial leg. Billy Kaplan, the assistant producer on the film, is fully recovered and back at work.

Novelist Hugh Walpole will be godfather to the Richard Boleslawski heir and Mrs. Carmelita de Parma will be godmother. The boy will be called Ian, unless his mother changes his father's mind. It's a little early to tell, but it looks as if the youngster will be a redhead.

A new sound stage is rising on the site of the old parking lot on the 29th Century-Fox studio. It was Gene Fowler who passed it on his way to lunch and observed:

"Look, they've been working for two weeks and all they've got up are two goal posts."

What radio biggie (he's in the movies, too) had better do more than pull down his hat if he doesn't want to be recognized when he visits a certain red-head?

HOLLYWOOD TICKET-TAPE—

Joan Bennett is being pursued over Hollywood by a woman who thinks the star owes her a living . . . and just because Joan is a movie actress. . . . That was Patricia Ellis with Dick Foran and his dad at the King's club. . . .

After laying off golf for nearly a year, Harold Lloyd shot a 79, which is within one stroke of his all-time record. . . . You'll be glad to hear that little David Holt has been completely cured of infantile paralysis. . . . Now Paramount is borrowing 100 skilled carpenters from M. G. M. . . . Rumor is that Warners have taken the script of "The Kindred" off the shelf for further examination. . . . And I like Bill Slavens McNeill's line about the Broadway producer who "has expressed his feelings towards a certain actor: 'I hate him always, I hate him on Sundays and holidays; and that goes for matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays!'"

HE'S MIXED UP

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — (INS) — 12-year-old Alfred Fritz was suffering serious pains which sounded to his parents like appendicitis, so he was rushed to the hospital. Doctors found the boy's heart, liver, and lungs in an abnormal position which caused them to crowd each other, resulting in the pain. Physicians said they were not sure just what to do about it.

A FISHY STORY

EL PASO — (INS) — When the police dragged the inebriated gentleman out of the mud puddle in which he was lying, he muttered, "Offisher, I fell in the river." "Gwan, that's only a puddle," scoffed the coppers. Then they searched his pockets and discovered a two foot eel.

HUMAN BALLOON

WILMINGTON, Del. — (INS) — Stanley Kerstetter of Glenolden, Pa., is recovering in a hospital here from a strange ailment that caused him to inflate—much like a balloon—every time he took a breath. One of Kerstetter's lungs was punctured in an automobile accident. Escaping air puffed up his body and placed him in serious condition. Physicians described the case as extremely rare but announced he would recover.

LONGER, MORE VARIED COURSES IN HORSE SHOW

The president of the Bristol Riding Club reports that this organization is again arranging for another horse show on Saturday afternoon, October 12th, and Sunday afternoon, October 13th.

The committee representing the club is making active and elaborate preparations to make this event more pleasing and spectacular than any previous show has been. Longer and more varied courses have been added which will give the observer better opportunity to view the performance of the horses; at the same time give the riders an equal opportunity to demonstrate their skill. This will undoubtedly add zest and thrill to the occasion. This in itself will lead many of their friends and townspeople to Laing's Gardens, where the show is being staged, for the pleasure and enjoyment that will be derived from seeing their friends perform.

The club, as heretofore, is receiving acceptances from many outside clubs and horse owners who will participate, assuring friends who come as spectators ample competition and fine horsemanship in winning the trophies that are being offered.

In the four years that the Bristol Riding Club has conducted the shows there has been only one occasion on which any outside agency received any benefit from the support which the club has received from this community. This curtailment of policy was made necessary by the conditions that existed when this show was organized. Every available surplus, arising from a show was expended for much needed equipment, supplies and labor in making a better and more attractive show for both spectator and exhibitor.

Today we visualize our hopes and dreams in presenting a show second to none in our class. In conformity with the policy that other horse show associations have followed in making contributions in support of worthy charitable enterprises, the Bristol Riding Club will on this occasion do likewise and at the termination of the show make this contribution to any bank or organization in our community actively engaged in supporting a benefit fund.

The club, therefore, invokes the generous support of our townspeople in making this contribution worth while.

SENECA LOST TO ST. ANN'S FOR BRIEF TIME

Dick Seneca, fullback for the St. Ann's A. A. football team, will be lost to the club for at least three weeks. Seneca shook his shoulder-bone out of place in the fourth play of the game against the Bridesburg Americans last Sunday. The "Saints" will meet the Tulip Tigers, of Port Richmond, Sunday, in its second gridiron fray of the campaign.

Coach Dougherty drilled the boys intensively during the week and now feels that his proteges are on edge and raring to show the fans that it was only a let-down that caused their rather unimpressive showing last Sunday. The only bright side of the defeat was "Pete" Bormice's run for a touchdown which came on a reverse play with wonderful interference.

Last night Dougherty gave the boys a little scrimmage and all appeared for practice and went through the signals. It was the final practice session of the week. Coach Dougherty is pointing to a victory over the Tigers who last week beat Johnny Shober's Cheltenham team, 12-7.

LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP OFFICIALLY AWARDED

The championship of the Delaware River League was officially awarded to the Hulmeville A. A. team at a meeting of the circuit held in the office of Justice of Peace Neal Nolan, Morrisville. The entire six clubs were represented at the meeting.

It was decided to hold a banquet in the Hildebrecht Hotel, Trenton, on the evening of October 16, with the guest of honor being "Jimmy" Fox, star first-sacker of the Philadelphia Athletics. Many other baseball stars will be invited as well as prominent sportsmen of this vicinity.

A baseball game will be played between two picked teams of the circuit for the benefit of Frank Griegs, first-baseman of the Dolington team, who was seriously injured when struck by a batted ball during practice before last week's game. The game will be played on the Morrisville diamond after the World Series.

CARD ELEVEN BOUTS FOR MONDAY, ST. ANN'S

Eleven bouts will be carded for the amateur boxing show to be held here Monday night in the St. Ann's Arena. Wood St. Match-Maker Mickey Giordano received the A. A. U. sanction for six of the bouts today and will receive the remaining five tomorrow.

Match-Maker Giordano has been successful in securing Eli Wesley, national amateur welterweight champion, again for an exhibition here. Wesley has been matched to fight Albert Pierce, of the Wharton A. C. Pierce was Wesley's chief challenger for the amateur crown and lost to the colored fighter in a close decision. Match-Makers from Philadelphia have tried for several months to attempt to rematch the fighters but Giordano stepped in to do the trick.

Wesley gave an exhibition here against Roosevelt Rowe, a stable-mate, last week, and did not try to put his opponent away. He was scheduled to meet Richard Donahue, Arena, but Donahue failed to appear and drew a suspension. Pierce's manager gave Giordano absolute promise that his fighter will be present.

Louis Spino, Arena A. C., who was the victim of a technical knock-out when Chet Castor, St. Ann's punched a mouse under his right eye, requested a return match with the Bristol glover and this was granted. Many ring-siders believed that the Philadelphia was on his way to victory when the fight was stopped with one more round to go.

The carrot-topped fighter from the East Side Club, Harry Graber, who has made a big hit with the local fans, and scored a one-round knock-out last week, will be back and will face the sternest opposition he has ever met in William Maher, Shacamaxon. Maher has fought here twice, and each time punched his opponent dizzy. This fight is expected to be close and hard-fought all the way, both youths having a wonderful knowledge of ring warfare.

Donato Sclarra, known as Young Tally, will return after a week's lay-off and will have as his opponent, Billy Crawford, Kensington A. C. Tally scored a sensational knockout over Billy Gallagher in his last bout and was very impressive with his exhibition. He has been beaten but once and that was when Harry DeFazio was given the nod in a close decision.

Harry Davis, colored local ace, who has yet to taste the sting of defeat, will be back in the squared ropes, having been signed to meet Edward Miller, Kensington A. A. Davis has been victorious in his three bouts, scoring easy wins in all. Miller has been coming up fast and in his last fight was a knockout victor.

The heavy-weight bout booked for the show will see Joe Christy, Holmesburg star football and baseball player, in action against William Thomas, Wharton A. C. Match-Maker Gordon has secured permission to use Art DePalma, Holmesburg, in the event that Christy is too heavy for his adversary.

The remainder of the card will be announced tomorrow with fights being secured for Vince Della, Sammy Blaochi, and Anthony Cascardo. The latter has recently joined the St. Ann's fighting corps, and comes from Kings Farms, Morrisville.

CARDINAL AND GRAY XI TO OPEN SEASON HERE

By Louis Tomlinson
(B. H. S. Press Representative)
A light but fast Fallsington football machine will invade town to battle an equally light but fast Cardinal and Gray eleven on the local high school field tomorrow afternoon at 2.30.

Coach Dougherty builds his hopes around much raw material and captain and quarterback "Bill" Lovett. Since Bensalem's offense worked so well against Bristol, Coach Dougherty expects a lot of trouble from the visitors, especially so since they have a cut-back that has always been troublesome to the locals.

Because of their poor showing in the practice game last week there have been many changes this week in the Cardinal and Gray squad, of which the two most important were the moving up of "Eddie" Moran and "Tony" Orazi to the first team.

Fallsington is pointing eagerly to this game because of the intense rivalry stirred up between the two schools, and also because they are evenly balanced, add to this the fact that the fray will be a Lower Bucks County conference battle, and the result will be a close, hard-fought contest, at least that is the prediction. Last week, Falls opened their season with a 6-0 victory over Newtown in a conference game and are out to add more laurels to their credit at the expense of the local aggregation. The one thing Coach Dougherty fears is over-confidence.

The Lower Bucks County football conference which is being introduced this year is comprised of eight schools, namely, Bensalem, Bristol, Fallsington, Langhorne, Morrisville, New Hope, Newtown and Yardley. To the winner of the conference will go a handsome trophy. However, the winner will not be based upon, as one might think, the team that wins the most conference games, nor will it be based on the team that has the highest percentage of games won with other conference teams, but rather will it be based upon the Dickenson Scoring System.

Briefly, the Dickenson System is taking the final percentage of the year of all your opponents' teams; multiply this by your final season's percentage, and you get a true percentage of your season's record. The advantage of this system is in playing harder schools. For example, one school of the conference may play a full schedule of hard games while another school of equal size and rank may play an entire easy schedule. Naturally the school with the soft schedule will be the logical team to win the conference, so in protection of schools playing a hard schedule the Dickenson Scoring System was introduced to decide who really is the right winner.

To be a member of this conference a school must play at least three conference schools. The three which Bristol will play are Fallsington, Langhorne, and Morrisville, the latter two away.

Incidentally, the name "Bunnies" will still hold, due to the fact that a new "bunny" has been secured as a mascot to take the place of the late "George I." In keeping the dynasty of George the new mascot has been named "George II." He will be dressed in a red and gray jacket in keeping with the school colors.

The Bristol Legion Cadet Corps will be on hand to add color to the inaugural ceremonies. They will show their stuff before the game and between the halves. Kick-off will be at 2.30 p. m.

BOWLING RESULTS

In the Bristol League B. B. C. took 4 points from the Elks in a close match. Ratcliffe with 525 was high for B. B. C. and Jackson had an even 500 for the Elks.

Harriman Grille won 3 of the four points from P. P. Co., losing the first game by 10 pins, Gaddish was high for P. P. Co. with 498 and Amisson 563 for Harriman Grille.

In the American League Rohm and Haas made a clean sweep of their match with the Elks taking all four points. Wicher had 576 total for the Elks and Pearson 551 for Rohm & Haas.

In the National League Schmidt's Florists won 3 of the 4 points from Asco. Crowthers with 452 was high for the Elks and Moerman 450 for Asco.

In the Federal League J. A. C. made a clean sweep from Croydon Fire Co., Keating hitting 474 for J. A. C. and Cassili 426 for Croydon.

SERIES PLAY-OFF WILL COMMENCE AT EDGELY

The first game of the Lower Bucks

County League playoff series will take place on the Edgely diamond Saturday afternoon instead of on the Hulmeville field as previously announced. The series will be composed of five games with Hulmeville A. A. defending champions, meeting the Edgely Braves. The second game, Sunday, will be played at Hulmeville.

Other games are also scheduled for the week-end. On Leedom's field, Saturday, Landreth's will play the R. D. Wood team, of Florence, Sunday, the Caseys and Cubans play the deciding tilt of the Bristol Twilight League.

For the football fans, Bristol High opens with Fallsington, Saturday. St. Ann's meets Tulip Tigers, Sunday, while the Eddington Trojans will open its season playing the Yardley Bruins or Willard A. C.
